

Bellview and the Sprints: the evidence

The twenty-one sources behind the Our Clarke story Bellview and the Sprints: A Millwood hotel, a phosphate business at Boyce, a farm west of Boyce left to Mamie R. Sprint for life, and her son Ashby's years in the apple trade.

What is in this packet

Twenty-one sources, exactly those the story cites: eighteen Clarke Courier items read on Library of Congress page images (two of them the Courier's reprints of Winchester Star reports), a published abstract of the county marriage register, and two Will Book 2B records read on the county film. Five pre-1929 Courier clippings are reproduced. The abstract is in copyright, the will-book pages are a subscription provider's images, and the thirteen Courier items of 1929 and later are of unclear copyright status; those sixteen are cited with a link, what was read and the reason no image is included.

What the records keep apart

Two John Sprints. The 1877 notice names "John Sprint's Hotel" and nothing more; the 1917 obituary is of John W. Sprint of Boyce. The story does not identify the one with the other.

A firm without full names. "J. W. Sprint & Son" (1882) names neither partner in full.

A life estate, not a deed. B. F. Humston's 1902 will gave Mamie R. Sprint the Bellview farm for life, with remainder to her children; it was admitted to record in 1904. No later deed is examined.

A sale offered, not established. The farm was advertised in October 1936 and offered a second time on December 14; the issues searched report no buyer. The 1937 and 1939 notices place sales of stock and goods on the farm, not a sale of it.

Names as printed. "Mamie R. Sprint" and "Mamie Humston" are carried without expanding "R."; "Petely" and "Peteley" stand as printed. Records already on the site for a Kathryn M. Sprint and for the Royston family are not joined to this family.

SB-01. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 13 September 1877, page 2: "Turnpike Notice."

The notice calling the stockholders of the Winchester and Berry's Ferry Turnpike Road to meet at "John Sprint's Hotel, in Millwood" on Monday, October 1, 1877, to elect a president and directors. It names a venue only: no keeper's initial, no building and no construction date, and it does not identify its John Sprint with the John W. Sprint of the 1917 obituary.

Phosphates !

Phosphates !

We are prepared to furnish the following brands of Phosphates, which have been tested by farmers in our immediate vicinity, making us able to recommend them as being equal in fertilizing qualities as any on the market. We name in part which will make a fine quality of wheat and a better yield without producing an overgrowth of straw, and has no equal for grass. It contains no ammonia. Also,

Popplein Silicated Phosphate,

'The Model' Ammoniated Bone Phosphate,

analysis as follows:

	PER CENT.
Organic matter, producing ammonia.....	1½ to 2
Avail. Phos. Acid.....	7 to 9
Insol. " "	1 to 2
Sulphate of Potash.....	6 to 7
Sulphate of Soda.....	3 to 4
Total Bone Phos. of Lime.....	20 to 22

And the Celebrated

Piedmont Guanos.

As we expect to make the handling of Phosphates a special branch of our business, we will be obliged to farmers for a share of their patronage.

Death of Mr. J. W. Sprint.

Mr. John W. Sprint, one of the highly esteemed citizens of Boyce, died at his home there on Tuesday morning, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Sprint had been quite active until about a week before his death, when he was taken slightly ill and remained in bed. He gradually lost strength until the end came.

Mr. Sprint was born in Winchester on June 26, 1829, and moved to Millwood with his parents when he was quite young, and spent most of his life there.

He was a member of one of the Virginia companies sent to Harpers Ferry to defend the place against John Brown. He was on guard duty during the trial of Brown and his followers and an eye-witness of the hanging of Brown at Charles Town.

Mr. Sprint enlisted in the Confederate army at the outbreak of the civil war, serving under Captain William N. Nelson, of Clarke, in Company C, Second Virginia Regiment, of the Stonewall Brigade. He was always regarded by his comrades as a fearless and intrepid soldier, and he had a splendid war record.

Mr. Sprint's wife was Miss Emily Shearer, of Millwood, who died about five months ago. They spent 66 years of married life together, and were a devoted couple.

He leaves one son, Mr. J. Trone Sprint, the well-known magistrate of Boyce, and six daughters, Mrs. J. M. Lancaster, of Shenandoah Junction, W. Va.; Mrs. Charles A. Ford, of Front Royal, Va.; Mrs. Howard B. Levi, of Berryville, Va.; Mrs. John Crisman, of Stephenson, Va.; Mrs. J. Marshall Ferguson, of Erwin, Tenn., and Mrs. C. S. Reid, of Roanoke, Va.

Funeral services will be held from the Boyce Methodist Church, on Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock, and interment made in Mt. Hebron Cemetery, at Winchester.

SB-03. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 10 October 1917, page 1: obituary of John W. Sprint.

The obituary of John W. Sprint, "one of the highly esteemed citizens of Boyce": born in Winchester in 1829, moved to Millwood with his parents when young, died at home in Boyce; his wife the former Emily Shearer of Millwood; one son, J. Trone Sprint, and six daughters. Its wartime descriptions are the newspaper's own statements.

WARDEN IS PARTNER IN ORCHARD PURCHASE

Mr. Ashby Sprint, of Winchester, and Mr. Harry C. Warden of Clarke County, have concluded negotiations for the acquisition of the property of Logan Shutt near Kabletown, Jefferson County, W. Va., and are taking possession at once.

They acquire 600 acres, about 250 of which is in apple orchard. There is a large packing house on the farm and a crop of 20,000 barrels of apples is expected this year. The packing house has often turned out 1,000 barrels of packed apples a day it was said. There are also five dwelling houses on the place. Mr. Shutt was engaged in farming and fruit growing in Jefferson county for many years before moving to Florida some five or six years ago.

SB-08. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 26 July 1928, page 4: report of the Kabletown orchard acquisition by Ashby Sprint and Harry C. Warden.

The report that Ashby Sprint and Harry C. Warden of Clarke took possession of Logan Shutt's property near Kabletown, Jefferson County, West Virginia, reported as 600 acres, about 250 in apple orchard, with a packing house. The figures are the newspaper's report of the purchase, not a deed.

SB-15. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 8 December 1927, page 4: notice of a bankruptcy sale of Charles Whirley's live stock and farm equipment.

The trustees' notice in Charles Whirley's bankruptcy, offering his horses, hogs, implements and 75 barrels of corn for sale "at the farm of Mrs. Mamie R. Sprint, near Boyce." It places Whirley's stock on her farm; it does not say what he was to her or to the farm.

What was read: the printed abstract for this marriage read on the scan on September 24, 2026; the original register was not inspected.

Why no image: In copyright (Heritage Books, 2008). Only a short quotation of the single entry is used on the site; no page image is released. A published abstract of the county marriage register, not the register itself.

SB-05. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 6 July 1944, page 8: obituary of Thomas Hatcher Sprint.

<https://www.loc.gov/resource/sn85025371/1944-07-06/ed-1/?sp=8>

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 21), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1944, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. An obituary. It states his parents and surviving brothers and sister as the paper gave them; it is not a legal list of heirs. Thomas Hatcher Sprint, the son, is a different person from his father, Thomas H. Sprint. Read from a Library of Congress scan of the printed page, as the clipping retained in the project's source packet, not from the paper itself.

SB-06. Clarke County, Virginia, Will Book 2B, pages 332 to 334: will of B. F. Humston, dated April 30, 1902, and its admission to record, October 17, 1904.

What was read: the will-book pages read at native resolution from the retained Ancestry images on September 24, 2026.

Why no image: The 1902–1904 record is public domain, but the images are a subscription provider's reproductions whose terms for reproduction were not checked; only the text is quoted and no image is published. Will Book 2B; the will gives the Bellview farm to Mamie R. Sprint for life, and the inventory lists the personal estate. Neither is a deed.

<https://www.loc.gov/resource/sn85025371/1929-04-11/ed-1/?sp=2>

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 10), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1929, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. A short news item. It dates the partnership's formation only to 1925 and the dissolution only by this report, and does not say where the office was. It spells the partner's name both "Petely" and "Peteley"; neither is corrected here. Read from a Library of Congress scan of the printed page, as the clipping retained in the project's source packet, not from the paper itself.

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 11), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1929, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. The Courier's reprint of a Winchester Star report, credited "—Winchester Star." It depends on the Star's report and is not an independent account; the Star's own issue has not been inspected. Its "today" is the Star's and is not dated here. Read from a Library of Congress scan of the printed page, as the clipping retained in the project's source packet, not from the paper itself.

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 12), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1930, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. A news report naming the company's officers. The plant's capacity is as the paper gave it. Read from a Library of Congress scan of the printed page, as the clipping retained in the project's source packet, not from the paper itself.

SB-12. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 7 January 1932, page 3: reprint of a Winchester Star report, datelined Charles Town, of the Blue Ridge Orchards receivership.

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 14), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1932, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. The Courier's reprint of a Winchester Star report, credited "—Winchester Star." It depends on the Star's report and is not an independent account; the Star's own issue has not been inspected. Its dateline, Charles Town, December 24, is kept as the report's own date. It reports a petition for a receiver, not the outcome of the receivership.

SB-13. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 19 November 1931, page 1: "Apple Harvest Is Completed"

<https://www.loc.gov/resource/sn85025371/1931-11-19/ed-1/?sp=1>

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 13), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1931, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. A report on the county's 1931 apple harvest. It names "the Sprint packing house at Boyce" separately from the Petley and Cather plant at White Post, and names no operator or owner for it. It does not say whose apples it packed or exactly where it stood. Read from a Library of Congress scan of the printed page, as the clipping retained in the project's source packet, not from the paper itself.

SB-14. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 24 November 1932, page 1: report on the 1932 apple harvest.

What was read: crop read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (retained separately; not in the consolidated packet).

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1932, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. A report on the county's 1932 apple harvest. Unlike the 1931 report, it does not place the Sprint packing house at Boyce, and it names no operator for it. Read from a Library of Congress scan of the printed page, as the clipping retained in the project's source packet, not from the paper itself.

SB-16. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 7 November 1935, page 3: list of land delinquent for 1933 taxes.

<https://www.loc.gov/resource/sn85025371/1935-11-07/ed-1/?sp=3>

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 16), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1935, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. A published list of land delinquent for taxes, not a title record. Its acreage is as listed. The Library of Congress dates the issue November 7, 1935, while the page's running head reads October 31, 1935. Read from a Library of Congress scan of the printed page, as the clipping retained in the project's source packet, not from the paper itself.

SB-17. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 1 October 1936, page 8: "Commissioners' Sale of Sprint Farm"

<https://www.loc.gov/resource/sn85025371/1936-10-01/ed-1/?sp=8>

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 17), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1936, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. A commissioners' sale advertisement, printed as one of several insertions ("10-1 4t"). It advertises a sale and records none. Its statement that the land was devised to Mamie R. Sprint for life with remainder to her children recites Humston's will and is not separate confirmation of it. The case caption does not name every defendant and is not a schedule of shares.

SB-18. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 3 December 1936, page 1: report that the sale of the Sprint farm was continued to December 14.

<https://www.loc.gov/resource/sn85025371/1936-12-03/ed-1/?sp=1>

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 18), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1936, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. A news report of a rejected bid and a postponed offering; it records no sale. It gives the first offering only as "last Tuesday". It arises from the same proceedings as the October 1936 advertisement. Read from a Library of Congress scan of the printed page, as the clipping retained in the project's source packet, not from the paper itself.

SB-19. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 18 February 1937, page 7: administrators' sale notice for the estate of Mamie R. Sprint.

<https://www.loc.gov/resource/sn85025371/1937-02-18/ed-1/?sp=7>

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 19), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1937, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. An estate sale notice for personal property, not land; no result is recorded here. It shows an estate role, not who worked the farm. It does not establish which Thomas H. Sprint signed as administrator. A printing of February 11, 1937 names different administrators and calls her "Miss"; the two printings are not reconciled.

SB-20. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 16 February 1939, page 5: public sale notice of Jas. C. Royston, on the Sprint farm west of Boyce.

<https://www.loc.gov/resource/sn85025371/1939-02-16/ed-1/?sp=5>

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 20), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1939, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. A sale notice for Royston's own personal property; no result is recorded here. It does not say whether he owned or rented the land, and identifies the farm only by its name and location as printed. Read from a Library of Congress scan of the printed page, as the clipping retained in the project's source packet, not from the paper itself.

SB-21. Clarke Courier, Berryville, Va., 31 August 1933, page 4: "Apple Packing House for Sale," trustees' notice of a packing house at White Post Station.

<https://www.loc.gov/resource/sn85025371/1933-08-31/ed-1/?sp=4>

What was read: clipping read from the page image on September 24, 2026 (the consolidated packet, page 15), after the research reading of September 22 to 24.

Why no image: Rights unclear: published in 1933, and whether a copyright in the issue was registered or renewed has not been checked. Quotations on the site are kept short; no image is reproduced. A trustees' sale notice, printed as one of several insertions ("8-31 4t"). It advertises a sale; no completed sale is recorded here. It says the railway land under the building was leased to J. Ashby Sprint. It does not say that he owned or ran the packing house, and it names no operator. The trust deed is recited, not inspected.
